

The following are scatter plots for the timing of the C functions versus the trial number. All the graphs have a thick line of points representing values around the mean. There are also some stray high values that distort the standard deviation greatly.

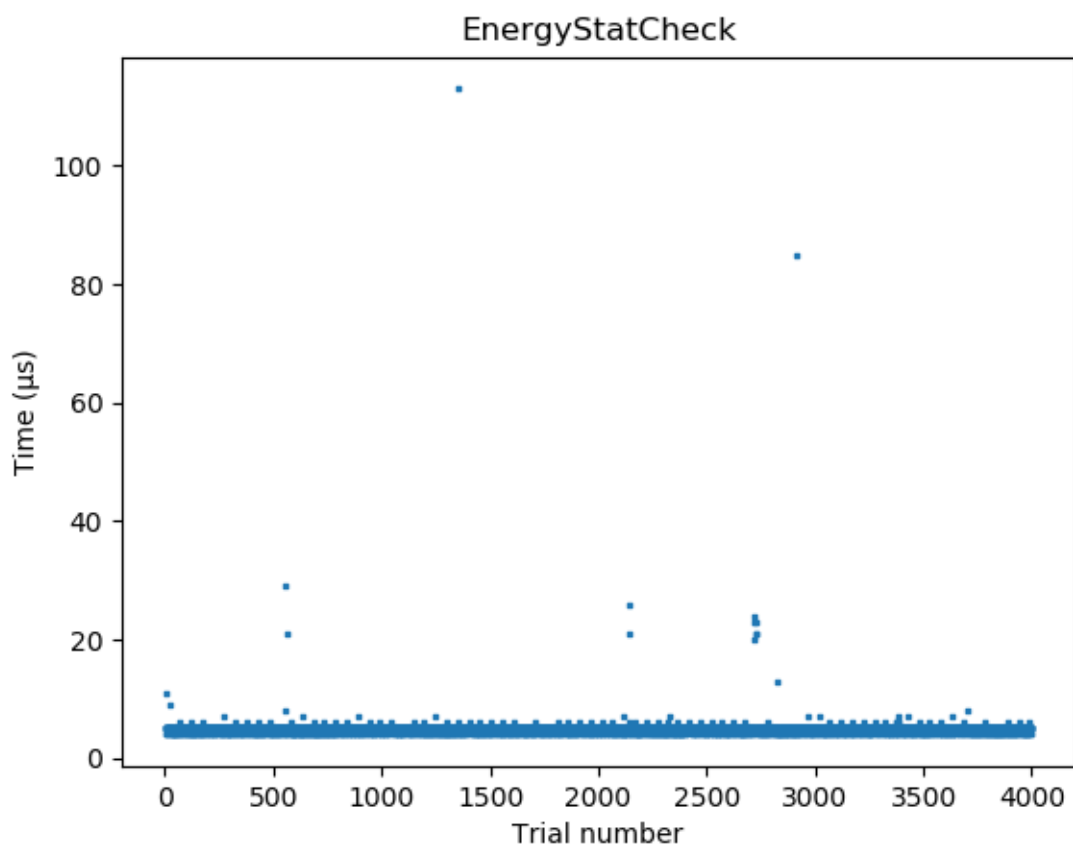

Graphs from data collected from Alejandro's machine:

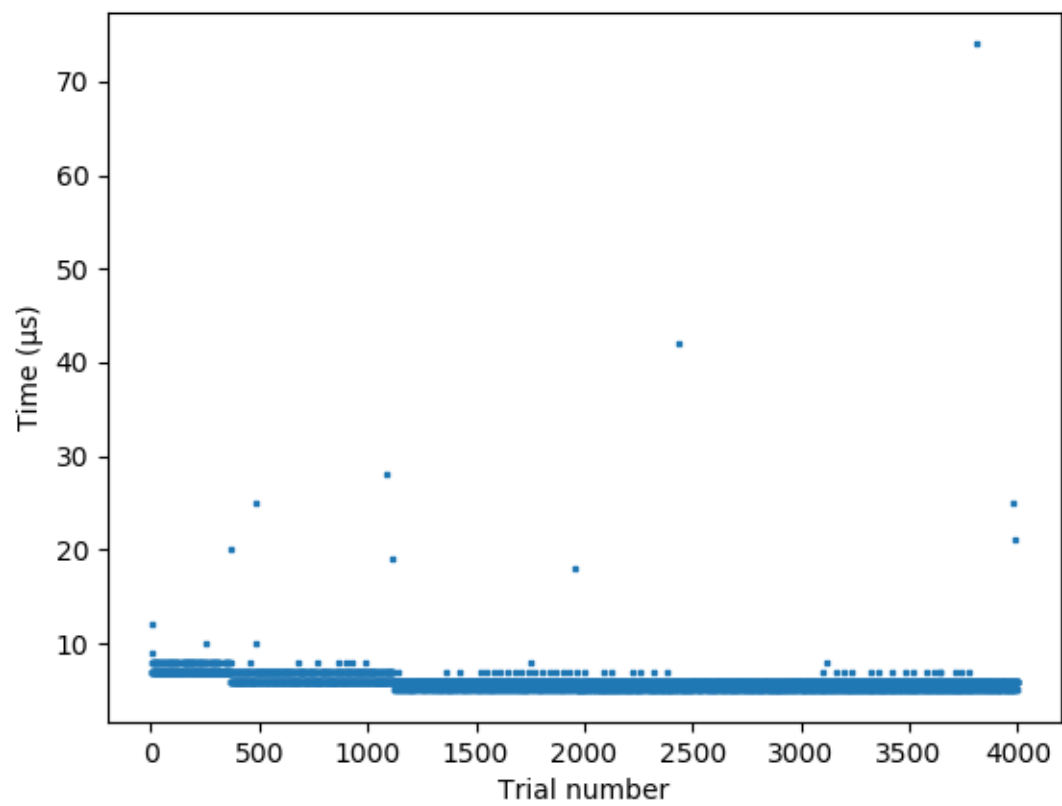

Graphs from data collected from Rutvik's machine:

GetSocketNum

ProfileDealloc

